The IQecg® from Midmark is an easy-to-use, digital, 12-lead resting ECG solution that helps you quickly administer testing and access patient information you need to make informed cardiac assessments and provide more efficient patient care.

IQecg®: An ECG that grows with your practice

Functions as a standalone product with our IQmanager® software or seamlessly integrates with today's top EHR/EMR solutions.

INNOVATIVE FEATURES HELP IMPROVE PATIENT CARE

Efficiency

- Lightweight, portable design, weighing less than 11 oz.

- View and monitor live, 12-lead ECG in selectable formats on-screen

- Capture abnormal ECG as it appears at the touch of a button

- Midmark 12-lead Resting Electrocardiogram Analysis Program automatically analyzes and interprets ECG data for neonate, pediatric and adult patients

- Review and edit ECG results on-screen with free text or customizable quick edit statements

- Detects possible arm lead reversal during the test so the technician can take appropriate action while the patient is still connected

Technology

- Save time and reduce data entry errors by populating patient information directly from your EHR/EMR software

- Facilitate a paperless office strategy and eliminate the costs of thermal paper and the hassles of scanning and filing patient charts

- Stores binary ECG waveforms and displays in digital data instead of static images, resulting in smaller file sizes and providing accurate viewing and measurements

- Quickly assess ECG changes with direct overlay serial comparison of up to four ECG tests

- Enhance your diagnosis with electronic tools like zoom and on-screen calipers

Adaptability

- Functions as a standalone product with our IQmanager® software or seamlessly integrates with today's top EHR/EMR solutions

- Integration allows you to perform tests within the EHR/EMR and store the information in the patient's electronic chart

- IQpath™ software solution offers uninterrupted testing, reduced latency issues and smooth data flow for facilities operating in a thin-client environment

- Part of a family of products created to grow with your practice
